BRISTOL WINS THE MEET

Local Girls Triumph Over
Norristown by Score of 42 to 41

A Bristol high school girl, Eleanor Petrick, smashed the National scholastic standing broad-jump record on Roosevelt field at Norristown, Saturday, when she leaped a distance of eight feet, 7 3/4 inches.

This is also the world's record for high school girls.

The National scholastic record, previous to Miss Petrick's jump, was held by Mary C. Eyound, Holland Hall, and was eight feet, 1 inch.

Miss Petrick was also instrumental in giving the Bristol high school girls a 42-41 point victory over Norristown in the first girls' interscholastic track meet held at Norristown.

The Bristol girls were awarded a cup for winning the meet.

Miss Petrick is an attractive blonde five feet, 5 inches tall and weighing about 115 pounds. She resides with her parents at 1505 Wilson avenue, here, and takes a great delight in athletics.

"I give all credit to Miss Margaret Pope," said Miss Petrick when seen today. "It was due to her careful training and she is a wonderful coach."

Miss Petrick, the new champion, also said she greatly appreciated what Miss Dorris Flansburg, the coach of the Norristown school, had done for her.

The Bristol high school girls went to Norristown Saturday for a return meet with the girls there. Miss Flansburg had seen Miss Petrick in action here a few weeks ago and so she quietly asked the A. A. U. to have an official on hand Saturday. When Miss Pope and her Bristol proteges

CLASS OF 36 CONFIRMED AT ST. JAMES'S CHURCH

Is Largest Group To Receive
Such Rite at This Church
In Past 20 Years

BISHOP TAITT PREACHES

The Rt. Rev. Francis M. Taitt, D. D., bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Pennsylvania, paid his annual visit to St. James's Episcopal Church, last evening, preached the sermon, and confirmed a class of 36.

The Bishop took for his text a passage from the Epistle of St. James, namely, "Pure religion and undefiled before God is to visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction, and keep himself unspotted from the world."

The Bishop compared this New Testament definition of religion to the Old Testament definition in the book of Micah, namely, "What doth the Lord require of thee, but to love mercy, to deal justly, and to walk humbly with God." He pointed out the meaning of the external symbols of religion, the altar, and cross and candles, and said that "the real test of religion is whether or not Christ lives in our hearts."

After the sermon the Bishop made an address to the confirmation class which was presented by the rector, the Rev. George E. Boswell. The Bishop urged them to use daily the confirmation prayer, stating they should pray for God's guidance each day, and for an increase of the Holy Spirit and then they would grow in grace. The class, numbering 36, is the largest the parish has had in the last 20 years.

Those confirmed: Vivian I. Baines, Eleanor F. Appleton, Dorothea E. Baines, Janet S. Baines, Elmira A. Gorton, Julia L. Tomesani, Jean V. Rosser, Evelyn A. Greenwood, Jane E. Boswell, Mary T. Jeffries, Horace W. Jeffries, Helen G. Bailey, Mary E. Bailey, Louisa R. Pitkonka, Marion M. Mulholland, Jean Roberts, Lillie E. Gorton, Ann H. Ritter, Ruth H. Shire, Thelma E. Goheen, Doris J. SELLERSVILLE, May 18—Bristol High School lost their first Class A Bucks County track championship in four years, here, Saturday, when Coach Earl Druckenmiller's crack track and field team captured the major honors in the 16th annual Bucks County Interscholastic Meet for Perkasie-Sellersville. It was the first meet of the Bucks County Schools in which only boys participated. Fallsington High School triumphed for the fourth year in a row in Class B, while Bristol's four-man squad and Buckingham High were victorious in the C and D sections.

Sellersville-Perkasie gained 49 1/2 tallies in the seven events to lead the A competitors with Bristol High and Bensalem's speedsters tied for second honors with 21 1/2 points. Langhorne, Quakertown, Morrisville and Doylestown finished in that order with 19, 14, 10 1/2 and 10 points respectively.

Fallsington's Orange and Black garbed crew swept through all competition in Class B, piling up 58 1/2 tallies in their nearest rivals, Southampton's 26. Yardley with 24 1/2 was third while Newtown, Buckingham and Richboro finished with 15, 13 1/2 and two.

Bristol High School's Class C representatives furnished the winning points with only four men on the club. Seven of the eleven possibilities were declared ineligible as late as Friday and the four remaining men tallied 37 points in five events to win. Bensalem was second with 15 and Sellersville-Perkasie with 13 points.

Coach Chapman Carver's Buckingham squad were repeaters in Class D. The Buckingham club tallied 30 1/2 points. Lower Makefield and Newtown were tied for second position with 17 1/2 tallies.

Sellersville-Perkasie's club accounted for five first places and tied for another initial spot in the seven events. The only event in which they failed to place first or tie for first was the 220 yard dash which was won by Joe Wilk, Bensalem High, in the time 24 seconds.

Mervin Stover dashed to a first position in the 100 yard dash in 10.6. John Lichtfuss threw the shot put 41' 2 3/4" to grab that event, and Fran Bergey ran the half mile in 2:13.6.

AUTO ON THE RAILS

Engine Brought Almost to A
Stop Just As It Reaches
Obstruction

An electric express train was brought to a stop just after it had pushed an automobile off the west-bound track of the P. R. R., at Maynes Lane, near here, early yesterday, due to the prompt action of a Bristol police officer.

The train had sufficiently slowed down before it struck the machine so that its momentum just moved the automobile from the rails. The engineer and conductor stepped from the train and grasped the hand of police officer Daniel Ferry, and congratulated him for his action. They made note of his name and address.

Police officers Ferry and George Pollard answered a call to the Harriman Hospital, shortly after three o'clock, yesterday morning, when Miss Frances Johnson, 16, of Croydon, was brought to the hospital, the victim of an automobile accident. Ferry and Pollard talked with Frank Smith, 22, Langhorne, who was Miss Johnson's escort, and Smith described to them how his car had gotten out of control and went onto the P. R. R. tracks at Maynes Lane and Bristol Pike. "The car is still on the tracks," Smith told the officers.

Pollard remained at the hospital while Ferry went to the scene of the accident and there found the car still on the west-bound track. Using his electric flashlight as a warning signal and waving it back and forth, Ferry ran along the track toward Bristol. It was but a few minutes before a train came into view. Ferry waved his light frantically in the hopes that it would be seen by the engineer.

Then Ferry, with the train bearing down on him, heard the screeching of brakes and saw sparks fly from beneath the wheels of the big electric engine. He stepped to one side and the train passed him with slackening speed. The engineer still applied his brakes and almost succeeded in bringing the train to a stop but not before the engine had pushed the automobile from the rails.

The engine was not damaged and a wreck had been narrowly averted through the quick action of Ferry. Both the engineer and the conductor stepped off the train and warmly congratulated Ferry. They asked his name and address so as to file their report.

LANDRETH NINE WINS AND LOSES OVER WEEK-END

Local Team Defeats Riverton,
8 to 2; But Loses to Bartram A. A.

HINES IS THE STAR

The Landreth Seed team played two games over the week-end. At Riverton, N. J., on Saturday, they defeated the Riverton A. A., 8-2; while yesterday, they traveled to Philadelphia and were defeated by the Bartram A. A., of the Philadelphia League, 6-3.

In the Saturday game it was just a case of too much Hines. Danny not only pitched a wonderful game, but fielded superbly, accepting nine chances in the field, which is something of a record for a pitcher. Hines also put his team out in front in the second inning. He came to bat with the bases loaded, the result of singles by Hibbs and Heftman and Snyder hit by pitched ball, and his timely drive to right field counted two runs.

While Hines was taming the heavy hitters of the Riverton team, Coles was having all kinds of trouble with Pitcoe, Pursell and Hibbs, seedsmen's heavy hitting trio. This combination scored five runs and made seven of the victors' 12 hits. Hibbs set the pace with three.

AUTO RUNS ONTO TRACKS OF P. R. R., THROWING VICTIM OUT ALONG RAILS; GIRL DIES OF FRACTURED SKULL

Miss Frances Johnson, 16, Victim of Peculiar Accident Occurring Near Maynes Lanes; Escort Lost Control of Car, He Tells Officer

A Croydon girl, Frances Johnson, 16, Sycamore avenue, was killed when accidentally thrown from an automobile; and an unidentified man met death when struck by a passing car, in two automobile accidents, near here, early yesterday.

Both victims were taken to the Harriman Hospital where the bodies were viewed by Deputy Coroner Dr. James Lawler. Miss Johnson was returning to her home from Bristol in an automobile driven by Frank Smith, 22, Langhorne. The car got out of Smith's control, he says, and it ran onto the tracks of the P. R. R., just east of the overhead foot bridge at Maynes Lane, Bristol Pike. The automobile tore down a number of concrete fence posts and ripped out yards of barbed wire. The wheels then bumped over the rails and ties for a considerable distance and Miss Johnson was thrown from the machine when the door of the car sprung open, Smith explains.

After succeeding in bringing the car to a stop, Smith jumped from the machine and yelled frantically for his companion, Miss Johnson. He located her along the side of the rails and then he attempted to stop passing motorists to get assistance.

THREE CENT POSTAGE

The government's experiment of reducing local first class postage to two cents has boosted this class of mail.

The three cent postage has not worked as was expected. It was supposed that about everybody who used two cent stamps, would continue to use those costing three cents when the rate was changed. But many of them have had their own ideas on that.

Concerns and corporations have many bills to distribute on the first of the month. Naturally, they began to experiment on other ways of doing this work. At a time when they were able to reduce their other costs quite drastically, it did not seem quite logical to them that the government should advance its postal charge 50 per cent. When the cost of anything is raised so sharply, people look for other ways of getting it done.

The most serious ill effect of three cent postage is its tendency to discourage the solicitation of business. The government asks producers to get busy, and return to normal operation as soon as possible. But innumerable concerns that had been using two cent postage to drum up new and old trade, have felt that a 50 per cent increase in that expense was too much. So they have curtailed such soliciting.

Also the good old fashioned postal card has grown popular again. The letter writer who was asked to pay 50 per cent more to the government, has concluded that instead he could save 50 per cent by using the card message. Increasing the costs of doing business is never a good way of restoring prosperity.

GETTYSBURG'S ANCIENTS

We are reminded that Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, has a distinction other than that of being the scene of the greatest battle ever fought on American soil. It is the country's only town, large or small, that can boast two newspapers which are more than 118 years old.

Through peace and strife, the Star and Sentinel—established in 1800 and carrying an account of Washington's death in its initial issue—and the Compiler, established in 1818, have carried on. They appear on Saturdays, and it would be interesting to know how fully they covered the event of 63 outside their doors. That battle opened on a Wednesday, but did not conclude until Friday, which is crowding the deadline a bit, for a weekly.

Gettysburg is a community today of 5,500 souls, and one hopes there is among them now a few with the self-sufficiency and spirit of their sires. It was a burgess of Gettysburg who, when told that Lee and Meade were converging on the place, sent warnings to the rival commanders, calling the attention of each to a local ordinance against the discharge of firearms within the corporate limits.

Tests show that a suit, when dry-cleaned, loses five per cent in weight. This would be after removal of keys, cigar-lighter and the lodge button.

ECHOES OF THE PAST

By Courier Staff Member

Review of the news as it appeared in the Bucks County Gazette issue dated at Bristol, Nov. 12, 1874. The Gazette, a weekly newspaper published in Bristol, was discontinued following its merger with the Courier.

The Bucks County Teachers Institute will commence its sessions in Lenape Hall, Doylestown, on Monday, the 16th inst., at two p. m. Among the instructors from abroad whose services have been obtained, are Professors Allen and Brooks, J. V. Montgomery, Sanborn Tanney, and Misses M. L. Sanford and Anna Clark. On Monday evening, Dr. Isaac I. Hayes will lecture, on Tuesday evening Henry Armit Brown, on Wednesday evening, Geo. N. P. Banks, on Thursday evening, Profs. Wickersham and Allen, and on Friday evening, Rev. A. A. Williams.

Three trains passed through Bristol last Saturday, bound Northwards. Each train contained the superintendents, supervisors, etc., of the main and connecting lines east of Pittsburgh, of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and was provided with an open end car, with seats arranged one above another in order to allow an unobstructed view of the road. The car was placed in front of the engine. There was also attached a passenger car without seats, but comfortably filled with tables, baskets, etc.

A horse belonging to Ellwood Doran fell from the Market street wharf last Saturday while hauling the chain pulley for unloading a canal boat. Before he could be released from the harness and hauled up on the wharf he was dead.

The wages of laborers on the P. R. R. is reduced to $1.08 per day, and one half of the men discharged.

Water Works Note—The mud-digger has arrived, and is clearing the way for laying the water trunk.

The bed-plates for the standpipe for the water-works arrived yesterday. The standpipe is expected next week.

On last Saturday the steamboat "Forrest" broke down a few minutes after leaving Philadelphia. The Camden towed her into Winter quarters. The Forrest will not make any more trips until Spring. Since last Monday the steam-boat Twilight took the place of the Forrest on the Trenton line.

Yesterday afternoon between one and two o'clock, three men broke into the house of Joseph Pelice on Jefferson avenue. The family were absent from the house at the time. One of the men was observed to go to the house alone, and afterwards return with the other two. They had succeeded in breaking open the kitchen door before their object was known. Mrs. Robert Vandergrift happened to observe their movements just as they were entering the building, and gave the alarm. The burglars thereupon took to their heels and escaped. They were well dressed and did not have the appearance of ordinary tramps. Upon an examination of the premises, it was discovered that they had made an attempt to gain an entrance at the side door, but from its exposed position or from some other cause they had left it, and went to the rear of the building. Several persons started in pursuit, but did not effect a capture.

HULMEVILLE—The long dry spell has its effect on the wells. Nearly all of the wells in Hulmeville are dry, and many of our people are taking advantage of this fact and are sinking them deeper. There is but very little water in the creek, and the factory and grist mill can barely make half time in consequence of low water.

Rev. Mr. Perkins of Bristol delivered a lecture to quite a large audience at the Young Men's Christian Association Rooms on last Friday evening.

John Gaffney, of this place, met with a slight accident on last Saturday night. While on his way home from the Union Literary Association he heard a strange noise on Trenton avenue. He turned the corner and walked back a step or two, when he struck a stone and was precipitated over a wall a distance of five or six feet, and rolled over into the creek. A sprained wrist was the extent of his injuries.

WARMINSTER—Passenger trains commenced running on the North-east railroad to the Bristol Road on last Monday, the 9th instant.

The citizens of Ivyland and the adjacent country have petitioned for a new post-office at that place.

PROSPECTVILLE—The schools of this township are very full this season being crowded to their utmost capacity. Perhaps the fact that they are made attractive to the little ones explains the secret of their large attendance.

This is Miss Petrick's second year in athletics and she plays guard on the basketball team and for three years has been a cheer leader.

After it was found that Miss Petrick had broken the National scholastic and perhaps the world's record, as well, she was the idol of the Bristol group as well as the girls from Norristown.

"BLIND TO LOVE" by HAZEL LIVINGSTON

SYNOPSIS

Mary Shannon had been pampered all her life. She would have gone on that way had not the sight of her father's worn collar awakened in her a sense of responsibility. She had left college and obtained work in the San Francisco office of the A. A. Healey Steamship Company. Mary is in love with the socially prominent James ("Jamie") Todd, Jr. Although he never said he loved her, he implied that some day they would marry. Mary's superior, Stephen Bennet, notices her that he is to be transferred to Seattle as manager of the home office. He wants Mary to go along as his secretary but she cannot bear the thought of leaving her family. That night, Aunt Willie stuns Mary with the news of "Jamie's" engagement to Nesta Grainger. Mary recalls her meeting with "Jamie" two years ago. She had been invited on a picnic by Jean Harvey, whose parents moved to Piedmont after making money in stocks but who still kept up their friendship with the Shannons through family calls. Mary cannot believe that "Jamie" no longer loves her.

CHAPTER V

She couldn't have imagined that. Why was she asked to all the Harveys' parties and rushed, with Jean, for three sororities when she entered college, if it wasn't on account of Jamie? Why, they wouldn't have looked at her twice—Mary Shannon, who lived practically next door to a chair store on Twenty-second street; Mary Shannon, whose father rode around in a top-sided old coupe he'd painted himself, selling cutlery to second-class stores. Oh, yes, he'd cared all right—once.

Hot tears squeezed through her tight-shut lids again, rolled rapidly down her cheeks, wetting the pillow. He'd cared, and he'd got tired and quit caring. And now it was over and he was going to marry someone else.

Well, it might be hard, but she'd get over it. Nobody'd get the chance to be sorry for her. The time would come when he'd wish his Vesta Grainger had never been born, when he'd want her (Mary) back more than anything in the world, and she wouldn't have him—not for a million dollars. She'd have somebody better than him then. She'd show him, she'd . . .

Tears rained down her damp, hot face. She tasted their bitterness with mournful surprise. Rain beat on the roof, slanted against the upper panes of the half-open window, the palm leaves lashed against the side of the house, her cretonne curtains blew out into the wet. But she didn't care. She didn't care about anything but Jamie.

She didn't want to show him. She didn't want anyone better. She didn't want to forget him. . . . All she wanted, all she'd ever wanted, was Jamie. And he was gone.

Unless . . . She sat up, blew her nose. There must be a reason why he had stayed away from her. A friend. He knew that if he saw her again . . .

If she wrote, found some excuse to see him again . . .

Slowly, doggedly, she groped for the words, the excuse, that would bring him back.

When your head aches, when your eyes are heavy with the tears you've shed in the night, when your heart is broken, and you wish you could sleep on and on into forgetfulness, it doesn't matter . . . you have to get up just the same when you have a job, and are a commuter. Though the only job is miles away, and you care less than nothing what others think of you, you have to dress carefully just the same, because office girls must be smart, and neat.

So Mary Shannon put on a clean blouse, and brushed her blue suit, and carried her black fox fur instead of the old tweed top coat, because the rain had stopped, and caught the 8 o'clock train this morning as she had all the other mornings, before her heart was broken. And the sun came out, and the day was so warm and bright that Ethelyn Piper wanted to sit out on the back deck of the boat. Mary, who was cold in spite of the sun and half sick from forcing herself to eat a breakfast she didn't want, just to stop Ma from arguing, would have preferred to slump over her book in a corner of the cabin inside.

Ethelyn came to again. "Wonderful taste! My dear, the way that man thinks of DETAILS! Did you happen to notice the necktie and shirt harmony he had yesterday? That deep henna of the tie, just bringing out the blue of the shirt. I must do something definite to-day, Mary thought. Anything will be better than waiting. I'll write—I wish I'd gotten up and written it last night. No, I CAN'T write—I won't let him think I'm jilted. Yes—and lose him, because I haven't gumption enough to fight . . . The right kind of letter—"

At three Bennet came in again and asked her if she would mind staying to get everything finished.

But it was easier to give in, and after a few moments the fresh, salt air made her feel a little better, though the bright blue sky, and the bright green water, and the glare of the sun on the deck, hurt her swollen eyes.

She had felt self-conscious about her looks. Was sure that anyone who took one look at her could see she had been crying a lot. But people don't notice. They aren't interested in you. They don't care.

Ethelyn said, "You look cute to-day. Have you got your hair different? I wish mine would curl up that way on the ends. Would you let it get longer, and have a permanent, just on the ends, if you were me?"

Look cute. With your eyes like two burnt holes in a blanket. . . . "I don't know, Ethelyn. Your hair looks all right to me, the way it is."

"Oh, do you really think so? I just don't want to look mannish, that's all. The chief abominates mannish looking women. I don't dare get one of these new tailored suits, though I'm really the tailored type. But when he has such a horror about looking mannish, why I'm safer to get—"

Ethelyn, off on her eternal "the chief says, the boss thinks, Mr. Alexander believes—"

"I'd see myself dressing to suit MY boss!"

Hurt silence from Ethelyn. Shouldn't have said that. Ethelyn was crazy about Alexander, though a lot of good it would do her. "Alexander has wonderful taste, though. He may be right at that."

PAT AND SAMMY LOOK UP THE "DUDE"

YOU GUYS GIVE ME A PAIN — EVERY TIME SOME YOKEL GETS TAKEN FOR HIS ROLL YOU TRY TO PIN IT ON ME.

BUT YOU ADMIT YOU PUT THE VICTIM IN ON THE RACKET?

I ADMIT NOTHING I LOST AS MUCH AS HE DID. BUT DID I SQUAWK?

COME ON, "DUDE" — WHO'S THE DAME?

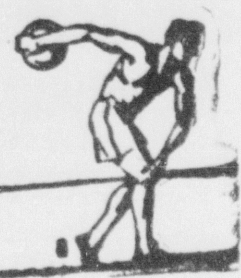

I DON'T KNOW — THE SUCKER INTRODUCED ME TO HER — SAY — MAYBE HE TOOK ME!

PAT, WISHING AN IRON CLAD CASE BEFORE MAKING AN ARREST, LEAVES "DUDE," APPARENTLY SATISFIED WITH THE LATTER'S STORY.

THERE'S NO SENSE PINCHING HIM NOW — WE'LL TRAIL HIM — HE MIGHT LEAD US TO THE MOLL.

I'LL SHADOW HIM

MACKENZIE WINS 50-MILE GRIND ON DIRT TRACK AT LANGHORNE AS 40,000 SPECTATORS CHEER HIM

LANGHORNE, May 18—George (Doc) Mackenzie, Eastern A. A. champion, won the 50-mile feature of the opening automobile racing program on the dirt mile track here yesterday. Mackenzie is a resident of Eddington, Bucks County.

Nearly 40,000 persons saw Mackenzie drive the 50 miles at an average of 91 1/2 miles an hour, taking the grind in 32 minutes, 40 seconds, finishing in front of Harry Angeloni, of New Brunswick, N. J.

Verne Orenduff, of Hohokus, N. J., and Florida, held the lead until he was forced out at the 42nd lap.

Harry Felton, Philadelphia driver, smashed up on the turn into the home stretch in the fourth qualifying heat, his car hurtling through the wire webbing.

Ken Fowler, of Paterson, N. J., was third in the feature event, and Frank Bailey, of Paterson, fourth.

Harry Nordheim, of Atlantic City, figured in a slight accident in the fourth qualifying heat, his car going into a spin on the far turn. He was unhurt, but the incident kept the other performers under the caution flag for eight laps.

LANDRETH TEAM HAS A BUSY SCHEDULE

Friday evening Landreth nine will play Stonehurst Hills at Upper Darby in a twilight game.

Saturday Mt. Holly will be the opening attraction on their new grounds, Landreth baseball park at South Bristol.

Sunday, they will play at Burlington. Wednesday, May 27th, the well known Bacharach Giants will be here in a twilight game commencing at 6:15.

Sunday, May 31st, R. D. Wood of Florence will be here.

C. ADAMS HURT

Treatment was administered to Charles Adams, Cheltenham, at Harri-man Hospital yesterday, he having suffered from lacerations of the head and brush burns. Adams was picked up by passersby at Maynes Lane, and was unable to tell how he came by his injuries.

HULMEVILLE CAPTURES TWO OF WEEK-END BILL

Hulmeville A. A. regained its 1935 stride over the week-end and captured both tilts of their week-end double-header. Saturday, the Hulmeville team trounced Harry Burns' Newtown team, 9-1, and yesterday the minions of Howard Black finished on the long end of a 10-8 slugging match with the Lambertville Top Rock Club.

By winning both of its games over the week-end, the Bordentown Eagles climbed into undisputed possession of first place in the circuit as the result of Dolington's victory over Morrisville, Saturday. Two defeats by Lambertville dropped them into third place while Dolington is now in a deadlock with Hulmeville for fourth place. Newtown now occupies the cellar, having lost four straight games.

"Pete" Firce did the twirling for the Blackmen Saturday and limited the Newtowners to four widely-scattered bingles. He was master of the situation from the first inning on and after given a comfortable lead coasted to victory. The winners made fourteen hits in the fray, every player getting at least one safe blow.

Yesterday, Manager Howard Black tossed them in for the 1935 champions. He was hit hard at times but a seven-run uprising in the seventh caused the Lambertville club to fold up. In this frame, the Top Rock Club used four hurlers in an effort to stem the tide of the batting. Hann who started and was excellent for six innings was relieved by Hogan. Hogan pitched but one batter and retired in favor of Drake. Drake could do little and finally Russ Stout finished.

Doll Farnsworth who pitched Bordentown to victory Saturday came back as a relief hurler yesterday to put out a Dolington rally and cop the tilt for the Eagles. Dolington had scored two runs and had the tying and winning runs on the sacks when Farnsworth checked the rally. Syd Garbowski blanked the Cornhuskers for eight frames.

"Reds" Yates' Hoopers, Morrisville, also had a close call yesterday when the Newtown team rallied in the eighth to take a 6-3 lead but the Hoopers came back strong in their half of the frame and tallied four times to cop the verdict. Sandy Sandhoff did the flinging for the winners while Chappie Gordon was on the hill for the revamped Newtown aggregation.

Landreth Nine Wins And Loses Over Week-End

hits, one a three-bagger, while Pitcoe came through with a home run to left field and a three-base hit to right field. Gotwald made the only hit off Adams, who replaced Coles in the ninth, a two-base hit which went through Edge at second base.

Praul was on the mound for the Seedsman in the Bartram game, and held them to ten hits, three being of the scratch variety.

Bartram used two pitchers, changing their battery at the start of the seventh.

Landreth were the first to score. Hibbs scoring in the second after reaching first on Wood's error advancing on an out and coming in on Heftman's hit to center.

McDonald's hit, a sacrifice, and Jackson's two-base hit to left field tied the score in the fourth. Bartram registered two more in the following inning, when the side should have been retired without a score. Two men were out on grounders to the infield, when Heftman allowed Dougherty's grounder to go through his legs.

Halstein followed with a hit which took a high bound over the infield, bringing in one run. Holstein also counted later when Pursell threw to second to catch McDonald stealing—after he hit safely to center. The three runs scored by Bartram in the seventh came on two infield hits and Dougherty's two-base hit.

Hits by Barrett, Dougherty and Pursell accounted for the Landreth run in the eighth. Another was added in the ninth when Heftman singled, stole second and third and scored on Barrett's hefty drive to center field. Dougherty also came through with a hit along the third base line, putting runners on first and second, but Pitcoe went down swinging hard in an endeavor to put the ball out of the lot and tie up the game.

G. Dougherty not only fielded cleverly, making four nice stops and throws, but made three hits. Barrett also collected three hits.

BRISTOL A. A. VICTORS OVER MARGATE TEAM

The Bristol A. A. team certainly came back strong yesterday by defeating the strong Margate city team by the score of 13 to 3. Ralph Stromp toed the slab for the local team and took things easy after he was given the lead to work on. Roe, Zefferies, Cooper, Eastlack, hit the ball hard. Ihig's catch was the best seen here in the last few years. The score was as follows:
